One terrorist killed and numerous insurgents detained by IPS

MOSUL, Iraq – Iraqi Police officers detained six individuals for passing out anti-Iraq force propaganda August 6, according to a multinational forces report.

In two separate incidents in Mosul, Iraqi Police detained a total of six suspected terrorists in possession of and distributing anti-government materials. In the first incident, two suspected anti-Iraq forces were detained and taken to a secure facility for questioning.

In the second incident, another two suspected AIF were also detained. Upon questioning from the police, the suspects directed police to a location where the AIF materials originated.

Based upon that information, Iraqi Police independently organized a raid at the location which resulted in the death of one AIF, believed to be a Syrian national. Two other suspected AIF were detained during the raid. Police confiscated four rifles and two vehicles at the location.
